Following the meeting, teachers provide summary notes and action plans.

Suggestions & Complaints

True greatness lies in the ability to accept criticism graciously, without harboring resentment. Suggestions, requests, or complaints made with a positive and constructive approach are always welcome. Parents are encouraged to communicate their concerns or feedback directly to the Director and Principal to ensure continuous improvement and meaningful action.

Daily interactions with management staff and teachers can be facilitated through the Student Handbook (diary), which serves as a medium for collaborative efforts aimed at the child's overall progress. Constructive feedback helps the school and students grow together. As the saying goes, "Only those who have a genuine desire to help have the right to criticize."

By working together with trust and understanding, we aim to build a nurturing and supportive environment for every child's success.
